Galvanic

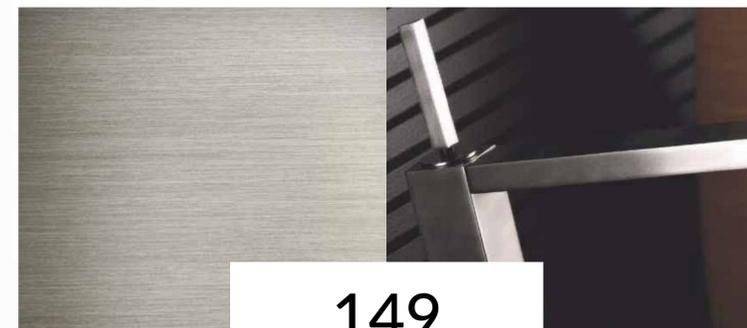

GALVANIC FINISHES

The galvanic process is the basis of all Gessi finishes. The first production step consists in covering brass with a layer of nickel via hydrolysis.

Chrome and Gold CCP finishes are obtained by covering the nickel-plated brass with more layers of chrome and 24-carat gold. This is how the distinctive mirror and brushed finishes are made.

Lacquered

LACQUERED FINISHES

Matt Black and White finishes, with their peculiar aesthetic performance, are made by covering the product with various layers of polyurethane lacquer. In order to obtain the antiquated look of the Aged Bronze and Antique Brass finishes we start with sandblasted brass, that is firstly lacquered in gold and then in black or brown. At this point our highly specialized artisans manually brush the surface, bringing back to light the golden tones of the first lacquer layer.

PVD

IS-PVD FINISHES

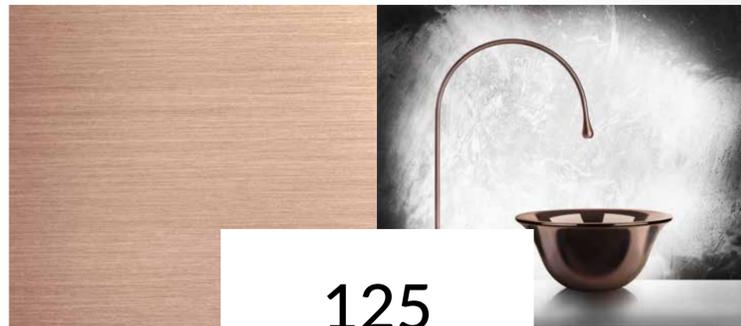

IS-PVD is the finish that allows products for the best performances and technical qualities. IS-PVD are innovative finishes characterized by unique mechanical resistance and exceptional brightness, that are made by letting vapours of metallic alloys condense on chromed brass.

The reaction takes place in a vacuum-sealed chamber thanks to particular gases, and allows for a great variety of colours according to the metals that are used.

GHRC FINISHES

GHRC finishes are an exclusive Gessi patent. The product goes over a galvanic process based on ruthenium for the Black Metal finish and on gold and copper for the Copper finish. It is later covered with various layers of a special transparent lacquer, that protects the underlying precious metal and make the product resistant and immune to fingerprints. In this way we create a finish of great visual impact, with an exclusive and refined aesthetic performance.
